The 2006 Henna Page Calendar

FOREWORD

by Catherine Cartwright-Jones

This calendar lists celebrations that can include marking oneself with henna or woad. People adorn their bodies in the annual cycles of beginning and ending, planting and harvesting, victory and defeat, birth and death, and indulging and abstaining. In countries where there were henna traditions, all joyful festivals and events were celebrated with henna. In countries where there were woad traditions, women and girls adorned themselves with blue before going to their religious rites, and men woaded for war. These celebrations are marked on The 2006 Henna Page Calendar, with modern events that can also be days for henna!

Celebrate life with beauty! Learn how and why from The Henna Page, The Indigo Page, and TapDancing Lizard.
